PIONEER WASHER.
E. G. BOLTER,
AGENT FOR OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
THIS CELEBRATED WASHING MACHINE IS now for the first time introduced to the Oregon public. It is unrivalled for its simplicity, durability and the rapidity and ease of its action. Washing the dirtiest clothes perfectly clean in from five to ten minutes, with but slight labor, and lasting, with proper care, for ten years. The wear and tear of clothing in washing by this machine is vastly less than by any other known process of washing. It does its work by a reverse motion in forcing the water through the clothes.
By having a tight cover, the steam thus assists materially in cleansing the clothes, and also avoids the subduing of steam from hot suds.
This Machine captured the Special Premium at the California State Fair, and all that have used it pronounce it an invaluable adjunct to all housekeepers and families and washing men and washing women.
It has been extensively introduced throughout the State of California, and receives the universal commendation of all who have used it.
THE COUNTY RIGHTS, now unsold, will be sold at a bargain if applied for soon.

LETTER FROM SAN FRANCISCO.

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, September 11th, 1867.

PIONEERS.

Taking advantage of steamship conveyance, we send you by the time-honored steamship Oregon, our jottings. March 31st, 1849, this ancient craft arrived in our harbor, having on board three hundred and fifty passengers, among whom were Col. John W. Geary and family, (now Gen Geary, and present Governor of Pennsylvania.) The first regular United States mail arrived on that occasion under the care of his Excellency, and was opened and distributed by himself. His postoffice boxes were marked off upon the floor of a seven by nine room, and delivered over a rope stretched across one corner to keep back the anxious applicants. Gov. Geary, we believe, was the only postmaster that ever faithfully performed his duties on this coast, (present company excepted).

On Monday, 9th inst., the Pioneer Society had their celebration, and it passed off with the usual eclat—procession, oration, poem and collation. The bachelor members of this organization are very proud of their married members, and frequently praise the fathers for bringing in their sons to perpetuate the organization so gloriously begun, and which confers upon this State the honor of being the only one of the family of this great Republic which celebrates its admission into the Union. The hob-nobbing at the collation in Pioneer Hall was a gathering of the antipodes. Men that were rich in them "high old times," hob-nobbing with wealthy men who used to act as porters in their miscellaneous stores. The rich have become poor, and the poor wealthy. This aristocratic Society has the element of more romance within its circle than was ever congregated together before upon this globe. The knights of the days of chivalry dwindle to a common-place subject beside them.

C. E. B. Howe is, we believe, the only pioneer who has made a collection of personal reminiscences of this passing away troupe. Many of his recitals have appeared in our literary journals, and the avidity with which they were copied by the press, has caused him to prepare them under the title of "Pioneer Papers." He is also preparing a volume to be entitled, "The High Old Times of California, or, '49 and Spring of '50." Mr. Howe has no doubt done the subject justice, for he is every way competent for the task.

the Governor elect of California, arrived upon these shores in 1850 and at once hit "put out" for the mines. He located at Fort Mine, Sierra county, and wielded the pick and shovel digging for dust, with considerable skill and energy. He cooked his own pork and beans with the consummate tact of a perfect French cuisine. His washed his blue shirts every week into cleanliness equal to his opponents, the wash-e-ma-hig-ged men of the Celestial empire. He mended his pantaloons with stitches equally as fine as those produced by the Florence, and placed the brand of "Extra Superfine, 200 lbs." on that exposed part always chosen by romantic and aspiring miners who work upon side-hills. His industry and economy soon raised for him the respectable bill of fifteen hundred dollars, which he converted into a law library—the tools of his profession. After various changes he located his office in this city, and his success has culminated in being the successor of John Bigler, for like the English kings with Cromwell, they never acknowledge the intervening rulers.

By birth he is an American; born at Rochester, New York, about 1827; but of Scotch descent, as the Saint Andrews Society of this city has his name among its list of members as No. 151 of the 600. His height is about five feet five inches, and is what would be called a "large sized small man." His hair, eyes and beard are of a dark brown. Stray hairs of gray glisten occasionally among his locks. His eyes have a glance seen in the flashes of the opal. His features are heavy enough for a man twice his size, yet they do not seem out of proportion. His nose is of the composite order, long, large and broad at the nostril. It has spec and root, denoting "sound sense." He wears his beard full and shaggy, somewhat like the red lion of his ancestors. He is of jesuitical inclination and his aims are for himself and friends—clannish. He is courteous but not bland. His equanimity it is almost impossible to disturb, and therefore he is always polite. He judges men by observation, not by report. If ever he indulges in a bit of spleen it is when alone, and it is said by a "peeping Tom" that he "makes things break loose and fly around." He is the best "head" the Democracy could have selected, for he can shut eyes and ears for party interest, and he is not conscientious in political matters. He remembers that God promised to help men who help themselves, and he holds Him to his promise; when he gives his word it is his bond, but the greater feat is to get him to do so. He is a worker and will do honor to the State and himself. His principles of Christianity are pure and of good intent. Bad company, personally, and the purlieus of a city he despises; he resides at Oakland, Alameda county, a place that has been prolific of men with vaulting ambitions, especially those of his political faith. To sum up: he is a gentleman—a species that is usually rare among the Democracy.

SCALPERS.

Civilization has more "scalpers" than the uncivilised. Here is an item going the rounds of the press:

William Thompson, the section hand on the Pacific Railroad, who was scalped and left for dead on the Plains, was brought to Omaha on Thursday, and is doing well. He is wounded through the arm and side. The Indians took his scalp, about four inches in length. By some strange oversight, they left it lying at Thompson's side. He brought it with him, and it will be replaced by the doctors.

While this scare was being acted, the following took place here: Mr. X., a whole-souled fellow from the interior, unused to the varieties of city life, concluded he would tackle the top of the genus homo—alcohol. He began by imbibing the generous fluid which is under the especial care of the Wine culture Association, but once presided over by the Elder Bushers, father of the Bachanalian family. Then he wrestled with old Bourbon, and flopped around with tangle-leg, red-eye and his associates. When darkness came over the city the scalpers came forth and started upon the hunt. They came across greeny X. and enticed him into an alley, when crash came a glistening paving stone, away went a piece of the scalp of X., down he fell senseless, and his accompanying friends raised him to his feet and went through his various pockets, at the same time extracting his "hush," slipping his "timer" and then leaving him on a door-step too drunk to go further. A expert policeman had nabbed the scalpers and recovered the watch and eight hundred dollars, all of which the victim X. said he would be willing to give if his scalp could be restored. Do not take every bald-crowned, sore-head, that comes up from this city, as the victim.

MENTION.

It is drawing hard upon the closing hour at Wells, Fargo & Co.'s, and we have not time only for mention.

Brother Stebbins preached on Sunday evening last in the Metropolitan theater to a large audience. This style of preaching reaches the outside masses, and Bro. S. has made it popular.

The whimsical Hays Higgins' hand-organ election bet came off to day, and a tremendous hubbub along Montgomery street was the result.

Yesterday the steamship Golden City sailed for New York, via Panama, with 250 passengers and $604,919 in treasure.

The health on the steamers is good, and travel has increased accordingly. Two Oregon families sailed on this ship who intend to return next year, bringing with them other families, and some choice stock. That reminds us that we saw advertised "choice Oregon horses," by one of our stock-dealers.

The Dramatic Chronicle gives the new theatrical star, Dan Bryant, at the Opera House a setback, in what we consider a just criticism. He certainly is far inferior to many of our stock actors.

Chinese houses of ill fame are being suspended, and much good it does the lawyers.

The Oregonians visiting this city are hard to find, or we would have mentioned them "occasionally." Yours, TRANQUELINE.

The Jurisdiction of the U. S. Circuit Court.

U. S. Circuit Court, District of Oregon, September Term, 1867.

James Field vs. James P. O. Lowndsdale et al—In Equity, suit to quiet title.

This suit was commenced in the Circuit Court of the State for the county of Multnomah, on April 8, 1867. On May 23, 1867, the Circuit Court of the State made an order transferring the cause to this court. In pursuance of this order, copies of the complaint, process and order were filed in this court on August 30, 1867.

The order of removal recites, that it was made upon the petition of the defendants, James P. O. Lownsdale, William E. Cooper, Mary E. Cooper, Millard O. Lownsdale, by his guardian J. P. O. Lownsdale, Ruth A. Lownsdale, by her guardian John A. Blanchard, and Ida Squires, and that it appears from the petition that the plaintiff is a citizen of Oregon and that Ida Squires is a citizen and resident of the State of Kentucky.

At the date of the order of removal it does not appear that the other defendants, namely, Robert Lamb and Emma his wife, and William and Isabella Ellen Potter had been served with process or appeared in the suit. The order of removal is in terms unqualified and removes the whole cause.

On September 9, 1867, the plaintiff filed a motion in this court, praying that the cause be remanded to the State court, for the reasons following:

1. It does not appear that this court has jurisdiction by removal:
2. The defendants were not all in court when the petition for removal was presented:
3. A part of the suit is yet pending in the said State court:
4. The grounds of removal are insufficient.

The order of removal made in the State court is not conclusive upon the question of jurisdiction in the Federal court. Notwithstanding the removal, this court must determine for itself, whether it can take jurisdiction of the cause. This proposition has, I believe, never been disputed, and is expressly affirmed in 1 Paine, 414, and 3 Kerran, 598.

The first and fourth grounds of the motion to remand are general and may be passed over for the present.

The second ground is not maintainable. The application to remove need not be made at the same time by all the defendants. If the defendants in court were required to delay the motion for removal until all the defendants appeared or were brought into court, the result might be that the time for making the motion would pass by and the right to a removal be lost. 1 Paine, 415.

The third ground of the motion, assumes that the cause as to all of the defendants must be removed at once. But by the authority just referred to, it appears that the law has been held otherwise. Besides, as a matter of fact, the order of removal purports to transfer the whole cause to this court. I suppose that counsel for the plaintiff mean to insist as a matter of law that the cause is still in the State court as to the defendants—the Lambs and Potters. As to these defendants the cause is not in this court. They are not included in the order of removal, and the fair presumption from the whole record is, that they were not before the State court where the order was made. They cannot enter an original appearance in this court, but only in the State court. They can only come into this court in pursuance of an order of the State court, where the suit was commenced.

But it may be that the State court did not deem it necessary to a determination of this cause, that those absent defendants should be brought before it; and in this view of the matter, in making the order of removal, it may have regarded them, as if they had not been named in the complaint. Or it may have appeared to the court, that it was by the plaintiff's neglect or contrivance that those defendants were not brought before it, or that they or some of them were fictitious persons or dead, and that therefore the defendants in court, should not be that account be delayed in or denied their application for removal. I do not deem it necessary to decide this question absolutely, and only make these suggestions to prevent the contrary from being taken for granted if the question should arise in the court hereafter.

As the law stood up to the passage of the act of July 27, 1866, the removal of a cause from the State court to the National Court, was governed by section 12 of the judiciary act of 1789. The uniform,—although not the most obvious—construction of that act has been that all the defendants must be entitled to have the cause removed. In other words, all the defendants, either as being aliens or citizens of another State must be entitled to sue in the National Courts, 2 Sumner 346-7, Wash. CC. 344.1 Paine 411-12.4 McLean 363. The only exceptions to this construction were the instances, in which the defendants who were residents and citizens of the State, were merely nominal or technical parties, without a beneficial interest in the controversy, 8 Wheaton 451.

Taking section 12 of the act of 1789, with its received construction as the rule regulating removals, and this motion to remand would have to be allowed. Of all the defendants who appeared in the State Court and joined in the petition for removal, only one of them—Ida Squires—appears to be a citizen of another State than Oregon. Where the jurisdiction of this court depends upon the character of the parties, it must appear affirmatively and cannot be presumed. For the purposes of this question of jurisdiction the defendants before this court, except Ida Squires, must be considered as not being entitled to sue in this court, and therefore not entitled to remove a cause there from the State Court.

By the act of July 27, 1866 it is provided that when a suit is commenced "in a State Court against an alien, or by a citizen of the State in which the suit is brought against a citizen of another State," * * * "and if the suit so far as relates to the alien defendant or to the defendant who is a citizen of a State other than that in which the suit is brought, is or has been instituted for the purpose of restraining or enjoining him, or if the suit is one in which there can be a final determination of the controversy, so far as between him, without the presence of the other defendants as parties in the cause, then in every such case the alien defendant or the defendant who is a citizen of the State other than that in which the suit is brought, may at any time before the trial or final hearing of the cause, file a petition for the removal of the cause as against him, into the next Circuit Court of the United States to be held in the district where the suit is pending," * * * "and it shall be thereupon the duty of the State Court to accept the surety and proceed no further in the cause as against the defendant so applying for its removal:" * * * "And such removal of the cause, as against the defendant petitioning therefor, into the United

Echoes of the Past.

The Herald thinks that because we noticed a recent speech delivered by George H Pendleton, at St. Paul, the performance of that repudiated politician at that place was "a very great hit." Doubtless the fact that we made mention of the speech is a very good reason why the Herald should suppose that it contains matter of importance; but we did not allude to it for any such reason. We noticed it simply because it reiterates the Copperhead statement that "Congress has abolished the governments of ten States," and we wanted to make a remark or two on the subject. This was the statement which we denominated as untruthful, and our sole business with the speech, (which in the main consists of platitudes and generalities) was to show that the allegation of the Copperheads that "twenty-six States have driven ten out of the Union" is without foundation. Those States got out of the Union, or if it pleases any one better, lost their Statehood, by their own act. This was the fact which it was our purpose to set forth, and it is a fact which no Copperhead has ever controverted or ever can.

To day Pendleton and and his party assert that a majority of the States have driven a minority out of the Union. In 1861 they did not hold this doctrine. Then they held that the seceding States by their own act had suspended their relations with the General Government, and had withdrawn from the Union. They held further that t be act of secession was perfectly legitimate and valid, and that, as a consequence, coercion was unconstitutional and wrong. Their opponents who were devoted to the idea of the Union of the States, held that though the seceding members had severed their relations with the Government, the sovereignty of the United States still extended over that territory, and that coercion was a strictly constitutional, as it was the only practical remedy for the restoration of the Union. Pendleton and his party asserted their right to go out and denied the Government the right of whipping them back; the Unionists denied their right to go out, and asserted the right of whipping them in. These were the positions occupied by the two parties at that time.

As Pendleton alleges that "the radicals have thrust ten States out of the Union," let us inquire what he formerly thought in regard to the method by which those States got into their present situation. In January, 1861, while secession was in progress in the South, Pendleton delivered a speech in Congress, in which he said:

> Sir, to-day, sir, four States of this Union have, so far as their power extends, seceded from it. Four others have annulled the grants of power made to the Federal Government; they have resumed the rights delegated by the Constitution; they have resumed every limitation upon the full exercise of all their sovereign rights. They do not claim our protection; they ask no benefit from our laws; they seek none of the advantages of the confederation. On the other hand, they renounce their allegiance; they repudiate our authority over them, and they assert that they have assumed—some of them that they have resumed—their position among the family of sovereignties, among the nations of the earth.

Yet this man and his party after having asserted that the rebel States were out of the Union by their own act, now declare that Congress put them out! They then claimed that the seceding States, having "resumed the powers delegated by the Constitution," had put off the authority of the United States and, by the exercise of their own sovereign power, had ceased to be members of the confederation. They now assert that twenty-six States have driven ten out of the Union!

The Union party hold that while those States had no right to secede, they did secede, and that they thereby lost their status as members of the Union. But that party asserted the right of the Government to force them back, which right the Democrats denied. That we may not be charged with misrepresenting the position of the Democracy on this question, we quote again from Pendleton's speech:

> Now, sir, what force of arms can compel a State not to do that which she has agreed to do? What force of arms can compel a State to refrain from doing that which, her State Government, supported by the sentiment of her people, is determined to persist in doing? * * * Sir, the whole scheme of coercion is impracticable. It is contrary to the genius and spirit of the Constitution.

So we have seen that both the right and the last of secession were affirmed by this Democratic leader, and that both the policy and the right of meeting force with force to overcome the rebellion and restore the Union were denied. This was the position held by the Democratic party throughout the entire struggle, and because George H. Pendleton announciated and defended it, they made him their candidate for the Vice Presidency.

The Herald pronounces a panegyric upon Pendleton, calls him a "statesman," and predicts that "one day he will as assuredly be appreciated and honored by his country as his country will be worthy of his transcendent abilities and pure patriotism." If the day ever arrives when the country regards such men as patriots, the Union of these States will be at an end. Proofs of his style of "patriotism" are given above, and while we are on the subject, it may not be amiss to present some more. In the same speech from which we have already quoted, the following passage occurs:

> If these Southern States cannot be conciliated; if you cannot find it in your hearts to grant their demands! if they must leave the family mansion, I would signalize their departure by tokens of love; and I would bid them farewell so tenderly that they would be ever touched by their recollection of it.

In Democratic estimation this is patriotism. Not so thought those who were determined to subdue rebellion. With bombast phrases and soft words like these did Pendleton and his party content themselves to look on while the great Republic should be stricken by traitors' hands from the roll of nations.

In 1863 Pendleton made a speech in Congress in which he declared that the people of the Northwest would not much longer support the war. Said he: "They were carried away by the excitement of April and May. They are now in no temper to be trifled with. There is danger of revolution. They are longing for peace." That is, the Democracy were about to revolt. They were ready to follow such leaders as Pendleton and Vallandigham and give up the Union.

It cannot be said that the man from whose speeches we have quoted these extracts was not a representative of his party. After he had made this record he was nominated by them for the second office in the Republic, and by this action they fully endorsed his course. And as we find them even yet calling this man a "pure patriot," is it safer, we ask, to entrust them with the Government now than it was then?

CALIFORNIA.—The California Senate consists of forty members. Of these the Republicans, according to statements published in the Union, have twenty-three. This majority will be an effectual check upon wild Democratic legislation.

Higby's majority in the Second District is stated at 600. There seems to be no doubt of his election. His defeated opponent, Coffroth, will probably be a candidate for the U. S. Senate. The Democrats are already in a muss over this prize, the radicals, or the secession element comprising the pure Democracy, insisting upon the election of Ben Washington of the San Francisco Examiner, while the more moderate wing desire a less outspoken rebel. We'll bet on the secession wing, whoever their candidate may be.

Letter from Polk County.

DALLAS, Sept. 15, 1867.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

We are occasionally regaled with something new out here as well as in the metropolis, but on yesterday we failed to see anything new at the great Democratic mass meeting, for the same songs were sung, tainted with the odor of treason, and the same discourses were delivered, seasoned with the doctrines of secession and States-rights that were sung and delivered in Jeff's palmiest days.

However, the sight of so many great men in our little town was quite refreshing,—such as Beriah Brown, Ben. Hayden, Burnett, Judge Strong, Carter, Curl, and last but not least was Hon. Simpleton, I believe of Portland, who was the first to appear upon the stand, to enlighten the benighted minds of the terrified. This Simpleton is the kind of speaker the Democracy want in this county, for every thing he says is so Simple, any of them can understand. He told them he did not come here to tell them anything new, but to do the very best he could. But finally he pushed his boat away from shore, and said some things. For instance, he said that California had gone 8,000 or 10,000 Democratic, over all the opposition counted together; and in the rounds he said if at the Presidential election the Republicans did not carry a large enough majority in the Northern States, and what Democrats might got at the South, "they would resist the inauguration by the sword." For this reason, if the Southern States went Republican, it would be by the military suppressing the white vote and upholding or carrying out negro suffrage. This beautiful specimen of manly courage and bravery, talked fight "considerable."

Next came Ben. Hayden and proceeded in his his usual style, calling Judge Williams "a liar," if I did not mistake, about forty times, and "a villain" and "a scoundrel" about as many times more. But what was most remarkable, he had on his dirty carcass a new coat, vest, pants, and a clean shirt. Though to prevent the drunken Secretary on Committee of Arrangements, who occupied the stand with him, from tearing it, he took off his coat. The Secretary's name appears above in the list of speakers.

The greater part of Hayden's speech was composed of personal attacks upon our greatest and best men—men to whom this Government owes its very existence. Benjamin took occasion to allude to the domestic affairs of General Sickles, in a not very gentlemanly way. Now, look out, Ben.; you live in a glass house; let family relations alone.

Next, Mr. Burnett entertained them with a few remarks, the most sensible of the day.

Then came Judge Strong, who is a very funny, corpulent, old fanatical, States-rights man. To make the thing interesting to Republicans, his remarks fell pretty heavily upon Beriah, who saw fit to defend himself, which created a disturbance in camp, to the intense amusement of all outsiders.

After this the adjournment was made to meet again at candlelighting, for the benefit of Bro. Curl, pregnant with a speech; all hands repaired to the nearest lagerbeer saloon, followed the worthy Secretary, imbibing a sufficient quantity to make every one feel like a leader in the party. Having had "a plenty" of Democracy, your correspondent did not visit the night show. W. G. H.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS—Regular meeting, Wednesday evening Sept. 18th. Mayor Chapman in the chair. Roll called by the Clerk. Present—Councilmen Besser, Burch, Fechheimer, Hallock, Mulkey, Porter and Rosenheim. Minutes of last meeting read and approved The Mayor appointed a special committee consisting of Messrs. Hallock, Besser, and Porter, to procure a Council Chamber, as per records of last evening

PETITIONS, REMONSTRANCES, ETC.

Petition from John Joakin, asking permission to use the south half of Yamhill street opposite Lot 4 in Block 22, was read, and granted

Petition from J. S. Royal and others, requesting the Council to have a lamp post erected at the corner of Second and Salmon streets, was read and referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

Petition from E. E. Zimmerman, relative to fees due and unpaid for attendance on the Recorder's Court, as witness in certain cases, which had not been paid, was read, and referred to the Committee on Health and Police.

Also, petition from A. B. Hallock setting forth that he was owner of fractional blocks Nos 43 and 68, Caseb's addition, and asking that A street be opened through the same, was read and referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

A report from Committee on Fire and Water and the Chief Engineer, was received and read, setting forth that they had advertised for bids to construct two fire cisterns as instructed by the Council—that they had received three bids, and that Messrs Goodenough & Clark being the lowest, the contract was awarded to them. Adopted.

The Committee on Streets and Public Property, to whom was referred the petition of John Hines and others, asking for the erection of four lamp posts, was read, recommending that the prayer be granted. Adopted.

Also, same committee, to whom was referred the petition of J. P Walker and Joseph Knott, asking to have the grade of Columbia street established from Front and across Water street, was read, recommending that the prayer be granted, and that the City Surveyor be instructed to survey and establish the grade, and report the same to the Council.

Same committee, to whom was referred the certificates of amounts due the following named persons on contracts for the improvement of certain streets, reported the same correct, and recommended that warrants be drawn on the appropriate funds, to John C. Rhoads $72, Daniel Wright $105, P. G. Baker $99 20, D T. Stinson $300, and C. A. Stewart $209 75.

The Committee on Health and Police, to whom was referred the bill of Dr. Giltner for the balance due for attendance on one Douglas, a small-pox patient, reported that they had the same under consideration; that the bill was somewhat extravagant; but that physicians usually charged more for such services than for ordinary cases, and that had they been informed upon inquiry that the City Marshal had made a contract with Dr. Giltner to pay him that amount, and that under all the circumstances, they were of the opinion that the balance of $20 00 should be paid.

Accompanying the report of the Committee, was a communication and affidavit of Dr. Giltner, relative to the correctness and justness of the claim, which was read, and upon motion to adopt the report of the Committee and pay the bill, Messrs Hallock, Mulkey, Fechheimer, Birch, Rosenheim and Porter, made a few remarks upon the merits of the bill.

The Mayor asked if there had been a written contract made by any person acting on behalf of city with Dr. Giltner, and filed with the Auditor, and upon being informed by the Clerk that there was no contract on file, the motion was put on the payment of the bill and lost.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

Report of J. J. Hoffman, City Recorder, of moneys received from fines and fees during the month of August, amounting to $54 80, was read and referred to the Committee on Accounts and Current Expenses.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY.

Bill of Smith & Davis for oil furnished the Fire Department, amounting to $66 90, read and referred to Committee on Accounts and Current Expenses.

Bill of Jas. Hoffman, $49 50 for fees as Recorder was read and referred to same committee. Also, Jas. Bothwell, $100 for salary as Deputy Marshal one month, was read and referred to same committee.

Councilman Besser introduced an ordinance appropriating $4,300 to defray the expenses of improving Alder street; read first, second and third times and passed under a suspension of the rules.

An ordinance was introduced providing for the time and manner of improving Third street, between A and Salmon streets, which was read first time and laid on the table.

Councilman Mulkey introduced an ordinance to establish a ferry landing at the foot of Stark street; was read first and second times, and upon motion of Councilman Mulkey to suspend the rules and read third time, was lost.

Councilman Fechheimer introduced an ordinance for the relief of C. Lamar, appropriating $33 50, amount of license previously refunded by the Council, which was read and passed under a suspension of the rules.

The Special Committee to whom was referred the matter of procuring a more suitable room for the meetings of the Board, asked for further time, which was granted.

Mr. Hallock offered a resolution to the effect that by reason of the inconvenience of our citizens in not having a port of entry at this city, the Mayor be requested to appoint a special committee to prepare and draft a memorial to Congress asking the same to be established. The resolution was adopted.

Also, a resolution directing the Clerk to give notice of the proposed improvement of Oak street was read and adopted.

Also, that it was deemed expedient to improve Stark street in the same manner as Second street is now being done. Read and adopted,

Mr. Bonar offered a resolution, which was read and adopted, directing the Clerk to give notice for the collection of [illegible] note for the improvement of Alder street.

Upon motion of Mr. Hallock, the Street Commissioner was instructed to cause Second street to be planked in front of Eagles House No. 2.

The Mayor announced that the Board would hereafter meet at 7½ P. M., instead of 8.

Adjourned.

A NEW ROTARY STEAM ENGINE.—Oregon is about to furnish to the world another important invention in the shape of an improved rotary engine. It is the invention of Mr. John Q. Welch of Oswego, who has been devoting the attention of several years to the attainment of the principles which, he claims, are embodied in this engine. The construction is simple and yet its workings cannot fail to be satisfactory. The parts consist only of the cylinder, rotating shaft and sliding valve. The latter turns the shaft when steam or water is applied, just as the buckets of a water wheel would. The shaft is set in one side of the cylinder whose section is an oblong circle, and the valve passes through the shaft, sliding back and forth by means of a cam arrangement. The shaft is not shut off at all, but being let into the cylinder on one side of the shaft, drives this sliding valve or bucket around till the circle is nearly completed, where it is diverted to the escape. The engine may be driven either way with equal facility by means of a movable valve which directs the supply of steam to the one or the other side of the cylinder. The same arrangement can be used for a force pump without any change whatever in the interior economy. Mr. Welch and his partner in interest are going to manufacture several of them, at first, to be used as pumps. Several machinists who have examined it say it will work admirably either as a steam engine, a water wheel, a force pump or a blower. As an engine or water wheel, it will have great power, having a much greater cylinder capacity than the ordinary rotary engines.

IMPROVED MAIL FACILITIES.—About a year ago, the mail carriage between this city and Olympia was got into an awkward hitch at Monticello, in consequence of which all mail matter, and passengers, were required to lie over twenty-four hours at that place. This has been the subject of much complaint, and we are glad to learn that Mr. Brooks, special postal agent, has finally succeeded in effecting an arrangement with the O. S. N. Co. by which the mails will hereafter go through without any delay whatever. The boats are to leave here at 6 o'clock A M. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays of each week, and to arrive at Monticello by one P. M. The stages will take the mail from that point at one P. M. and arrive at Olympia the next day at 8 P. M.—the thirty-seven hours from Portland. From Olympia, the mails will start on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and come through without stoppage, arriving here at 8 P. M. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. To do this, the boats must have McMillan on those days at one o'clock P. M. This arrangement goes into effect on Monday, the 23d inst. The people who are interested in the mail facilities between Oregon and Puget Sound, as well as the traveling public, will join in thanks to Mr. Brooks for his action in this matter.

A FREE FIGHT.—A row in which quite a number of persons figured pro and con, took place in front of the Washington Hotel yesterday afternoon. One woman and one or two men were roughly handled and when hostilities ceased there were several who showed blood. The police arriving on the ground in time to see the grand finale, secured the leading spirits—the conquering and the conquered—and took them before the Recorder who held them to bail for their appearance this morning. In the fight there were pistols, butcher's cleavers, picks and other weapons offensive and defensive, considerable loud talk, some profanity, blows given, blows received, adversaries, retreats, rallies, reinforcements, "strategy my boy," etc., etc., the fight being conducted on the general principle, "wherever you see a head hit it." There will be a rich time in the Recorder's Court this morning.

PASSENGERS FOR PORTLAND.—The steamship Sierra Nevada sailed from San Francisco for this port, at 11 A. M on the 17th, with the following list of passengers: Major Caleff, U. S. A., Capt. Marie, U. S. A., Rev. J. Eckman, M. Graham, Mrs. J. H. Howell, J. B. Knapp, E. Brown, Gen. W. H French, U. S. A., A. Cohn and wife, John Thompson, M. Harris, B. F Howell, P Vanbridagh, Ed. Cohen, Dr. Eckler, Thomas Cross, L. Bathman, Miss J. Patterson, Rev. Graves, Rev. Ballading, Rev. Sandini, Rev. Cavalagino L. Goldsmith, Gov Woods, of Oregon, Mrs. Healy, Major Francis, U. S. A., Arthur Haine, J. J. Wright, W. H. Bennett, M. Meyer, L. H. Cook and family, Frank Wiedler and 50 others.

OSWEGO IRON IN SAN FRANCISCO.—The shipment of Oswego iron per steamer Montana, is thus noticed by the Bulletin of the 9th inst: "The steamship Montana, from Portland, arrived this morning, with 6,000 pounds Sloss., $100,000 in treasure and 50 tons pig iron, the last named article being the first invoice from the new Oregon Iron Works These works, the only ones of the kind on the Pacific coast, are located on the Willamette river, about seven miles above Portland. * * * The works are capable of turning out 12 tons of pig iron daily. It is said that the above sample just received by the steamer will be distributed among the foundries of the city for the purpose of testing the quality.

I. O. O. T.—On the 6th inst., Capt Adams organized a Lodge of Good Templars of twenty-five charter members near Franklin, Pierce county, W. T., on the Puyallup river. It takes the name of "Puyallup Lodge." The following is the list of officers: Hon. Cyril Ward, W. C. T.; Mrs. Susan Ward, W. R. H. S.; Mrs. Jeannet McMillian, W. V. T.; Samuel Woolery, W. S.; Charles H. Ross, W. A. S.; Christopher C. McMillian, W. F. S.; Mrs. Ruth McCarty, W. T.; James Woolery, W. M.; Miss Alice M. Ross, W. D. M.; Miss Lucy Bonney, W. I. G.; William H. Wright, W. O. G.; Darius M. Ross, W. C. and L. D.; James F. Kincaid, P. W. C. T.

TAINOR VS MULTNOMAH COUNTY.—This case, appealed from the Circuit Court for this county, to the Supreme Court, was yesterday decided in favor of the county Barney Trainor brought suit before Justice Anderson against the county to recover $30, deposited with the treasurer for a license to sell liquor. The defendant's counsel demurred generally to the complaint; the demurrer was overruled; whereupon the defendant appealed to the Circuit Court. Judge Shattuck affirmed the ruling of the justice, and from his decision, the defendant appealed to the Supreme Court. The judgment of the Supreme Court, reversing the decision below, will dispose of the case against Trainor, unless the complaint is such as to admit of an amendment.

SUPREME COURT.—From the Record of Tuesday, we clip the following Supreme Court proceedings of Monday

Chas. McGuire and Anna Maria McGuire, respondents, vs Samuel M. Stutt, appellant. Case submitted.

James B. Harker and Sarah E Harker, respondents, vs. J. P. O Lowndale, administrator of the estate of D. H. Lowndale, deceased, appellant. Case submitted.

The State of Oregon, respondent, vs John Dougherty, appellant. Submitted.

"THE TRIPPLE THUNDERER."—The Albany Journal, says of the late editor of the San Francisco Flag "We are glad to learn that Calvin B. McDonald, Esq., who has been so noted in California for his loyal and caustic pen, contemplates visiting Oregon for the object of embarking in journalism." The editor of the Journal was formerly connected with the Flag and, therefore, may know whereof he speaks.

QUICKEST TIME EVER MADE.—The quickest time, probably ever made by mail between Washington city and Portland, was by the mail which arrived Tuesday evening. Mr Q A. Brooks received by it an official letter bearing the post stamp of "August 28th"—twenty days and eight hours from Washington. Of course this mail came by Bobtail. Considering all things, we call it pretty fast traveling ARRIVED.—The steamship Oregon, —— Sholl, commander, arrived yesterday morning at half-past ten A. M. from San Francisco, with five hundred tons freight. She left San Francisco, Friday 13th, at 2 P. M.; crossed Columbia bar at 7 A. M., on the 17th; met bark Almatea going out; arrived at Astoria at 10 A M; left at 1:30 P. M, was detained some hours in the Willamette river.

FROM OREGON CITY.—Capt. Baughman of the Senator, says the river had risen at Canemah one foot. The Echo from Albany came into the basin yesterday, without the least difficulty. The basin had not been entered before by any steamer, since last July. The Enterprise left yesterday morning for Albany.

POSTAL AGENT.—Mr. Q. A. Brooks, special postal agent, starts this morning on an official trip to Monticello, Olympia and Victoria, and will be absent, probably, ten days or two weeks. There are several matters connected with the mail service, in that direction, which require attention.

HOLMES & SUNDERLAND.—This firm advertises this morning that they have just received a full stock of ladies' and misses' shoes—fashionable goods—and that they will give their patrons the "best bargains in the market." Give them a call.

TO SAIL.—The steamship Oregon will sail from this port as soon as unladen—probably this evening or to-morrow morning—for Victoria and Nanaimo. At the latter port she will take a cargo of coal for San Francisco.

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—Arrived per steamer Senator, yesterday, from Oregon City—2 bales woolen goods, 45 bags oats, 9 sacks fruit, 1 half bbl butter and 2 tons iron from Oswego.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT.—We acknowledge the receipt of a ticket to the Fenian Guard's target and pic-nic excursion to Oswego to-day.

THE PIONEERS meet for practice this afternoon at four o'clock on the grounds across the river.

FUNGUS.—The town is full of rumor that Herman Bros. are selling Fine Clothing awful cheap. They will receive another large stock by steamer Oregon, due to-day.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER.

Travelers are always liable to sudden attacks of dysentery and cholera morbus, and these occurring when absent from home are very unpleasant. PERRY DA VIS VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER may always be relied upon in such cases. As soon as you feel the symptoms, take one teaspoonful in a gill of new milk and molasses, and a gill of hot water. Stir well together and drink hot. Repeat the dose every hour until relieved. If the pains be severe, bathe the bowels and back with the medicine, clear.

Fishermen, so often exposed to hurts by having their skin pierced with hooks and fins of fish, can be much relieved by bathing with a little Pain Killer as soon as the accident occurs; in this way the anguish is soon abated; bathe as often as once in five minutes, say three or four times, and you will seldom have any trouble. Sold by dealers everywhere

Good Night.

Good night, good night.—
How many a thought this simple phrase,
The heart, by tell-tale tone, conveys,
How swells its inmost depths to hear,
From those we hold in friendship dear,
The cheerful word "Good night!"

In evening light
We hear the mother's joyous tongue,
Humming the song the angels sung
It falls upon the listening ear,
And stills the yearning soul to hear
The loving song, "Good night."

'Neath moonbeams bright
The lovers linger hand in hand,
Speaking the tongue hearts understand,
Dreading the hour that draws so near,
When sweetly, softly, to the ear,
Comes that fond word, "Good night"

With true delight
The willing form of childhood sleeps,
And age its cheerful vigils keeps,
While lingers devoutly on the ear,
That word to youth and age so dear—
That earnest word, "Good night."

Good night, good night,
The promise of another day
Its cheerful, honest tones convey
'Tis no longer parting that we fear,
But sign of promise when we hear
The welcome phrase, "Good night."

An Unjust Comparison.

Democratic orators and newspapers, in their blind prejudice against the negro, seem intent on elevating the character and natural capacity of the Chinese far above that of the degraded black. There is no accounting for tastes, especially amongst politicans. One would naturally suppose, that the African American, who has been raised in our midst, who has imbibed the religious doctrines of our people, who knows no other country than that of his birth, whose education, such as it is, is derived from the teaching of our own language, and whose social habits are borrowed or copied from those of his white neighbors, would be rated in the scale of races at least above the disgusting scum which is poured into our country from the redundant hive of human leprosy of Asia. We have no faith in the sincerity of that class of politicians who can find physiological and moral virtues in the imported Coolie superior to those developed in the black man, who is indigenous to our soil. Much stress is placed by this new school of Chinese-worshippers upon the educational superiority of the Mongolian. If the comparison be confined to to negroes of the North, it will not hold. We will not insult the intelligence of our readers by citing individual examples from amongst this people, for every observing man can call them to memory in large numbers. As to their ignorance in the South, the mere admission of that fact is only damaging to the whites who kept them so. It is not to be expected that a people raised and subsisting under the "peculiar institution," which has always been a pride to the Democratic party, could have emerged from the darkness of their bondage gifted with intelligence and replete with book learning. It would indeed, be astonishing, if, after having been deprived for generations of the slightest facilities for intellectual culture, that race should have a redundancy of Dumases abroad, or of Douglasses, of Dowlings, or of Langdons here, and the liberal etonologist, imbued with the principles of fairness, would hold the fact that, notwithstanding the benighting influences of slavery, the race has developed such lights as these three latter in the country, is one of the strongest arguments admissable in favor of their natural superiority of intellect over the coolies of Asia. The Democratic orators assert that these are all educated; yet we have the evidences before us that their education has left them inferior in every moral respect to the despised and ignorant race to which they are unjustly compared. What the North has done for developing the intellectual powers of the black man, emancipation in the South is doing for the enlightenment of the manumitted slaves in that region. The full fruition of this great revolution may not be fully realized in the adult population of the present day; but the generation now growing up will determine the question of their natural powers of mind. The intelligence of that people is necessarily in its infancy. The masses of our own race two centuries ago were not so far advanced in knowledge as are the negroes of the present day. If an appeal on the question could be taken to their descendants two hundred years hence and we could immediately realize a picture of their society at that period, the difference between the intellectual culture of the black then and ourselves now, might not present so vast a difference. But as between that people and the Chinese, the like space would be marked—for whilst the negroes are ambitious and progressive, the Chinese are stolid and stationary. We can imagine of only one object which can actuate Democratic orators and journalists in placing the American negro far beneath the Chinese coolie in the scale of intelligent races. It is to prove that suffrage would be safer in the hands of the Mongolians than in that of the negro; and that rather than recognize the political equality of the black man, whom they hate for the wrongs they have done him, they would freely accept the alternative of placing the ballot in the hands of the Chinese, between whom and themselves there exists no such barrier as there does between their past party prejudices and the enfranchised black slave.—S. F. Dispatch.

ONE MAN TOO MANY IN AMERICA.—Rev. Geo. H. Hepworth delivered the oration at Boston on July 4th, in the course of which he said of Jeff. Davis:

Ah! gentlemen, I am not cruel. I do not like to look even upon the merited punishment of a bad man. But this I say: There is one man too many in America. America, ever busy and eager, filled with the hopes of morrow more than the memory of any past, holds the great offender—the man who stood at the head of the organized rebellion and cheered his soldiers to their bloody work—within her fortress walls. The people cry out for justice with thunder tones that echo from the Pacific shore to the Atlantic slope. But policy or cowardice, I know not which, finds excuse for delay, and by slow degrees the people's cry grows fainter and fainter, until at last when the prisoner is released, scarcely a ripple of surprise or interest ruffles the surface of the nation's daily life. Posterity shall read this terrible sentence, written on the bloody pages of our time: A republic attaches no penalty to a great crime; only petty guilt is punished, while colossal prime finds an apologist, if not a eulogist, and holds its court in Canada. God grant it may not be the seed of another rebellion.

LIQUOR DRINKING.—The St. Louis Republican says:

The crusade against liquor drinking seems to be waged on all sorts of principles. With many of those engaged in it the end seems to justify the means. In England there is a society of Good Templars, who, while pledged to touch not, taste not and handle not, do not feel debarred from allowing some of their number to play a detective part and turn informer. One of these spies, acting under orders from his chief, was in the habit of taking his rounds among taverns, saloons and groceries, drinking in them, especially as he said, when invited, and then informing against landlords. He frequently threw dice for drinks and otherwise gambled. In fine, he seems to have led a somewhat dissipated, if not drunken life, which appeared to suit him, since he was paid two dollars a day, besides pocket money to pay his bar bills. We suppose he would say he was fighting the devil with fire.

"HE SHOT ALL BUT ME!"—When General Braxton Bragg commanded the Army of Tennessee, one day while on the march, he suddenly came upon one of the "ragged" butternut fraternity, who was just then busily engaged in plundering a garden. The General drew up, and in that clear, ringing voice which, once heard on the field of battle, is not readily forgotten, called out, "To what command do you belong?" Butternut was caught. He recognized the General, and he knew the man he had to deal with. Assuming a green, gawky manner, he answered as follows: "Mister, I did belong to Mr. Bragg's company; but he shot all but me!" This was a little too much, and drawing his hat over his eyes and compressing his lips, the General rode on, and let the last man of his "company" live.

A QUEER RETURN.—The London journals comment at length upon the magnificence of the ball given in honor of the Sultan. The money to pay the bill, some ten thousand pounds, was taken from the East India fund, and correspondents of the journals above referred to are noticing the fact that at this very time there are thousands starving in India. When the Lancashire weavers were in distress, India sent fifty-four thousand pounds to their relief. Now that the Indians are starving, England takes their money to give balls with in honor to the monarch who, while receiving the homage of the Christian nations, is engaged in the wholesale slaughter of the Cretans. Truly, John Bull's idea of consistency must be unique.

AFFECTED.—A young gentleman in Milwaukee trod on the trail of a lady's dress in the street the other day, tearing the frail garment almost entirely off at the waist. The bereaved fair one berated him in voluble Teuton, and the awkward youth burst forth into a genuine "boo hoo!" refusing to be comforted.

N. Y. Roughs in Brazil

A correspondent of the Washington Chronicle, writing from the shores of the Amazon, gives a brief history of a gang of old hardened bounty jumpers from New York city who had learned that the Government of Brazil had offered a bounty of $400 in gold for every foreign recruit who could be obtained to go into the ranks in the war against the Paraguayans, who emigrated to that country to practice their old trade. The writer says of them:

They were a fearfully hard lot composed mainly of the pickpockets, shoulder hitters, droppers, and "wharf-rats" of the slums, who were getting too hard for even the endurance of a New York policeman; and they succeeded in getting the bounty almost to a man, but the Government had a bitter bargain of them. On the passage out they kept up the municipal regulation for blackguardism without the slightest discount. There was a row constantly going on among them, and it was only by the most decided watchfulness, and by placing a few of the leaders in irons summarily that they were kept from rising on the officers and crew of the steamer. At St. Thomas, where the Brazilian mail steamships stop for twelve hours, they got ashore and went in to "take the town," but came rather near getting taken themselves. There are some five hundred coalheavers at that port, the major part of whom are negresses of brawny proportions; they are a good-natured race—ignorant, full of song and fun, as peaceable as can be desired, but they did not relish the brutal pranks which Mose thought himself bound to cut up, and were not slow to resent personal indignities by pelting their insulters with lumps of coal, and the second officer of the South American told me that but for the interference of the police, those b'hoys would have fared hard. At Para they behaved so outrageously that the Commandant has since forbidden the landing of steerage passengers, save those having tickets to this place, by which, as is too often the case, the innocent are made to suffer with the guilty. In the steerage of the South American were several respectable families who were suffering from the hard fare and unsuitable food allowed on the ship, they were anxious to pay almost any price for fruit or fresh food of any sort, but there was no getting ashore, and market-boats were not allowed to come alongside, so they were compelled to endure it for nearly two weeks longer. When the roughs arrived at their destination they commenced their usual course of proceedings by robbing grocers, bakers, liquor dealers and cafes, but they were brought up with a round turn by an armed police, and, as they refused to succumb to the authorities, a few of the more boisterous were summarily shot, while the remainder found themselves safely cared for by the military. Many of these fellows were old hands at bounty-jumping, but the system of surveillance in Brazil is not favorable to that sort of thing, and these chaps soon found that once in the army of the Empire, they were likely enough to live—or rather die there. So, as there seemed nothing better to be done under the circumstances, they were sworn in, and each one got his $500 in gold, which he pocketed in the full determination to desert at the first opportunity. There was no possibility of affiliation between the good-natured Brazilians and those ruffians, and, after driving the Commandant to the very verge of desperation by their disorderly conduct, they were organized into a battalion by themselves and placed in charge of a port, where it was confidently thought that their viciousness would lead them to hold out to the last in case of an attack. Their subsequent military career was what might be expected of such rascals, the part was invested by the Paraguayans, and, with the imperial gold still jingling in their pockets, they turned the guns on the Brazilians and went over to the enemy in a body, where they were well received, while the Brazilians who went over as deserters were killed by special order of Lopez.

A HIGHLY-COLORED LOVE LETTER.—A Colorado correspondent of the Philadelphia Press relates the following of a negro soldier who came into his tent to get a love letter written:

Soldier—"Please, sah, hus yeh time. Cos if yeh hus, I'd like to hab a tub lettah."

Writer—"Confound you, sir, I don't give love letters to beings of your sex or complexion!"

"I know'd dat, sah; but don Ise got a sweetheart, an' I wants you to write fur me to her."

"What! Do you brazenly stand up before me and say you love this maiden?"

"Oh, golly, Iss in earnest sah, I does."

"Well Anthony, are your intentions honorable?"

"Yes, sah; dey is so mighty, an' I wants yeh to say lots of nice things, jes if yeh wuz a writin' to her yerself."

This was very clear, so, having ascertained that the "maiden's" name was Amanda Parker, and that she lived at Pulaski (Tenn.), with the aid of one or two friends the following was produced, which Anthony declared to be "De fust-ratest lettah what I ebber heard writ:"

"Mightally Belubbed Amanda: Think not because the raging prairies of the rolling West top their beamed frontlets to the sky, between you and me, that for an instant the warm affections of my young and gushing buxum has been chilled towards you. No, no, Belubbed object of my youthful affections, when the prairie wolf howls and the night winds roah, I stand at my post, and wrapping my martial cloak around me, I exultingly shout, 'Oh, golly, if Mandy wuz only heah!' I've been a fighting Ingins, and, in the terrible hour of battle, when the frenzied fiends came rushing on our serried ranks, I gazed to heaven and thought of thee. Oh, Mandy! when shall these manly arms again press thy sylph like form to my bursting heart? When shall I again drink the nectar of love from thy lips? When hear that voice, sweet as the sound of an unweaned turtle-dove, exclaiming in accents wild: 'If I must perish, oh, Anthony, I love yeh!' Cheer up, Mandy, darling, the cruel war will soon be over, and your Toney will come marching home again from a foreign shore, even though the last rose of summer be left blooming alone where the stormy winds do blow. That you are all the world to me must be a self evident proposition, as you doubtingly asked yourself, 'Why don't dat man propose?' Here Amanda, star of the evening, I offer thee my heart and hand, asking if thou art not fondly my own, for, when other friends are round you, then you'll remember me. But away with melancholy. I'm enjoying excellent health in this magnificent and highly salubrious clime, though, when the sun sinks in the west, my heart is breaking for the love of Mandy Parker. Cheer up, fair maid of Perth. I am now with Colonel Orsenwood, shouting the battle cry of freedom. We are now agoing to Denver, all on a railroad.

"Write to me at St. Louis, as the rule directs, care of General Hazen, Company I, Thirty-eighth Infantry, and rejoice thy heart, thou Venus of the night hue.

"I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your humble and obedient servant,

"ANTHONY HUGH."

So delighted was Anthony with this letter that I had to read it to a dozen of his comrades, most of whom wanted "lettors jes like dat to send to their gals."

Western newspapers are always great in promising future prosperity for their cities; but the most extensive statement of this kind we have lately seen, is that the town of Fort Scott requires but two things to make it one of the largest cities in the world, and these are buildings and population."

"CAPITAL CITY CHRONICLE."

J. H. UPTON & A. NOLTNER, Proprietors.

ON SATURDAY, AUGUST 31, 1867, A LARGE SIZE WEEKLY PAPER, with the above title, will be issued at SALEM, OREGON.

The CHRONICLE will be devoted to Politics, News, and the development of the varied resources of the State. In politics the CHRONICLE will be unflinchingly Democratic, supporting and advocating all those reforms in National and State policy, so urgently demanded at the present time by every consideration involving the weal of the American people. The necessity for a Democratic organ firmly planted at the Capital, will be at once apparent to every thinking Democrat in the State. Such a one we propose to make the CAPITAL CITY CHRONICLE, and with the State thoroughly Democratic to-day, with all prospective changes in favor of that party, there is no valid reason why the enterprise shall not prove a complete success.

While the CHRONICLE will devote ample space to the discussion of political topics, the News of the day, the Agricultural, Mining, Mechanical and Manufacturing interests of the State at large will receive due attention. A twenty-eight column paper, 20x36 inches in size, will furnish ample space and enable us to present in each number an amount of reading matter equal to the importance of the interests involved. We only ask at the hands of the people that legitimate patronage which shall enable us to present a sheet in every way creditable to ourselves and the State—one which none may have the least reason to be ashamed of.

All contracts for advertising and subscription existing with the late Democratic Review will be faithfully executed by the proprietor of the CHRONICLE.

Terms of Subscription:

Single copy, one year $3 00

Five copies, one year 12 50
